Two biometric kits have been handed over to the College of Education and External Studies (CEES) a week to admission of first years to the University. The biometric kits are set to provide biometric details of students upon registration. The Biometric kits will capture student details with the pilot project commencing with first year students joining the University on September 4, 2017.

The kits will enable the institution keep track of the actual number of students at any given instance as well as enhance security owing to the student details available through their finger prints.
